

Abbott Nicholson Lawyers Designated as Michigan Super Lawyers

Detroit law firm Abbott Nicholson, P.C. is proud to announce that a number of its attorneys have been recognized by publisher Law & Politics as “Michigan Super Lawyers 2009”.

Gene Eshaki (Alternative Dispute Resolution), William Gilbride (Alternative Dispute Resolution), Thomas Quilter (Business/Corporate), Robert Weller (Franchise/Dealership) and John Youngblood (Franchise/Dealership) were each chosen as a “Michigan Super Lawyer 2009” and Michael Weikert was named a “Michigan Super Lawyers Rising Star 2009”.

The Super Lawyer designation is awarded to outstanding Michigan attorneys by publisher Law & Politics. This is the fourth year Super Lawyers magazine has conducted a review in Michigan and those named to the list represent less than five percent of the state’s licensed practitioners. Michigan Super Lawyers rates individual lawyers based on an annual statewide survey of all lawyers who have been in practice for at least five years, independent research and a peer review by practice area.
